FRIDAY, JUNE 21, 1912

Some warm session that in Chicago.

Taft followers in Chicago showed that they can do some rough riding themselves.

The chances seem to largely favor the renomination of President Taft, but his election next fall, if nominated, is quite another matter.

People generally would be more interested in the investigation of the money trust if they were certain that they would get something out of it.

The fall of Teddy at Chicago was the hardest he ever received. But the Taftites had been figuring for some time on giving him a rough toss.

Col. Roosevelt is licked in his fight for the republican nomination for president but his followers may nominate him in a convention of their own. But that will get him nothing next November.

Should Col. Bryan intimate that he would like the democratic nomination for president the Baltimore convention will quickly name him as the standard bearer. At any rate, this is the strong surface indication.

The several hundred newspaper correspondents at work reporting the Chicago convention may still be on the job this time next week and miss the Baltimore convention. But the democratic convention will be reported just the same, and by experts, too.

E. H. Moore, state insurance commissioner, ventures the opinion that many ballots will be taken in the Baltimore convention next week before a candidate for president is nominated, and that Gov. Harmon has as good a chance to win as any other candidate.

This week Col. W. J. Bryan is attending the republican national convention in Chicago as a newspaper correspondent. Next week it will not be surprising if he occupies the center of the stage at the democratic national convention in Baltimore as a nominee for president.

Congressman John J. Whitacre is letting it be known that he is in the race for re-election and is putting in his best looks to win. He admits that he does not like life in Washington and would prefer to give his entire attention to his own business interests, which are varied, but he believes that only through a democratic congressman can the people of this district secure the services to which they are entitled. Mr. Whitacre overcame the big republican majority in the district two years ago and may be able to turn the trick again despite the fact that he is likely to have considerable opposition in his own political family. He is a good fighter, anyhow.

Judge W. P. Barnum of Youngstown is credited with having said in a recent interview that men who serve as jurors in common pleas court should be paid $5 a day for their services. It would raise the standard of jurymen and at the same time save the taxpayers money, the judge declared. The $2 a day men now receive for jury service does not in many instances pay their actual expenses, to say nothing about the time spent. One thing is certain, most men are not pleased when drawn for jury service, and the increased pay the judge suggests might make them feel that the three weeks the law requires they must serve each year if called upon were not donated.

SWAMP COLLEGE

June 19—Quite a number from here attended the play, "My Old New Hampshire Home," given by the Goshen grange in Canfield last week. Thomas McPeely has had his house painted.

Ed. Seibert spent Thursday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Goodman of Toot's Corners.

Nick Weingart of Patmos spent Friday evening with Earl Ressler.

In last week's Dispatch there was an item put in by the Knaufville scribe about the ball game between Hickory and W. G. C. C. It claimed Hickory only had four home players and the rest of the line-up was from other places. But Knaufville only had three home players, being John Manchester, Warren Manchester and Herbert Knauf. Homer Phillips and Russell Justice of Hickory played with them as did Ray Hull of Ellsworth.

W. P. Mellott, Roy Knauf and Lester Templein of Calla. They called it hard luck game but did not mention the hard luck game Hickory played on their grounds Decoration day when their pitcher, catcher and second baseman did not put in an appearance.

ROOSEVELT MEN FLEE CONVENTION

WHEN OUTVOTED AND THE COLONEL MAY BE NOMINATED AS AN INDEPENDENT.

Chicago, June 19.—The Roosevelt men at midnight definitely decided to bolt the credentials committee.

Col. Roosevelt appeared at a meeting of Roosevelt delegates and bolters late tonight and asked them to go no further until he had obtained "certain information." The meeting then was adjourned until 12:30 a. m.

Previously, most of the bolters from the credentials committee had been induced to return to the committee room, but the Roosevelt men made it clear that they would leave in a body unless granted their point.

Roosevelt members of the credentials committee, acting under the specific orders of Col. Roosevelt, broke out of the committee room at 10:30 tonight after attempting to beat open the doors and bring all newspaper men into the room.

The doors of the committee room were suddenly thrown open by J. J. Sullivan of Cleveland, who rushed out with the cry "All Roosevelt men walk out!"

Sullivan was followed by Hugh T. Halbert of Minnesota, Francis J. Henry of California, George L. Record of New Jersey and other Roosevelt men. As they pushed open the swinging doors after Sullivan they cried out to the newspaper men:

"All newspaper men come inside and see what they are trying to do to us." Col. Thayer, assistant sergeant at arms, shouted to the doorkeeper to admit no one. The Roosevelt forces shouted again for everyone to come in. Thayer called for policemen, who rushed in and through and kept the crowd from getting in. The Roosevelt men poured out of the room, declaring they were acting under the orders of Col. Roosevelt.

"Everybody go to the Florentine room at the Congress," shouted one man.

They rushed outside, followed by the crowd, and into the street outside the Coliseum, where they were overtaken by Secretary William Hayward. "Why did you act that way?" Hayward demanded of Henry. "Why didn't you wait until some rules had been passed?"

"We are acting under the direct orders of Col. Roosevelt," retorted Henry.

"We are obeying a better general than you!" shouted Record. "He told us to leave that room, and we did it."

Hugh T. Halbert declared the break came as the result of the refusal of the majority in the committee to open all evidence in the cases. Halbert presented resolutions asking that the temporary roll call of the convention be considered only as prima facie evidence of the right of delegates to sit; and that all evidence, testimony and the like be gone into.

The committee refused to do this, and attempted to gag the minority by making rules that would have left the action of the national committee as practically decisive in all the contests.

Henry later came back to the lobby and urged the Roosevelt contestants to go to the Florentine room of the Congress hotel and be heard by the members of the credentials committee representing Roosevelt.

ROOSEVELT IS BEATEN

Theodore Roosevelt has the noise and wild acclaim, but the faction fighting in the name of President Taft has the votes.

That, in a nutshell, tells the story of the titanic struggle for control of the republican national convention. The chance of the rough rider to obtain the nomination for a third term in the presidential chair went glimmering late this afternoon with the adjournment of the second day's session of the convention.

For the second time the convention today demonstrated its purpose not to be controlled by Roosevelt. Fighting desperately, the Roosevelt forces went down to bitter, humiliating defeat on the second day's session of the convention.

The temporary roll containing the names of the ninety-two delegates who hold their seats, Roosevelt says, as the result of fraud and thievery, remains untouched after a second day of Roosevelt assault. For the second time the convention has sustained the national committee in the face of the fiercest possible denunciation by Roosevelt and his followers.

ELLSWORTH

June 19.—The Children's Day exercises which were to have been held in the M. E. church last Sunday evening were postponed until Sunday evening, June 30.

A lot of us would do better if we'd reel in occasionally to take a slant at the bait.

YOUNGSTOWN

The $25,000 damage case of Dorothy Livingstone against J. N. Kuwer's Sons Co. was settled last week for $3,000. The little girl was injured in an elevator accident some years ago.

Detectives from the Attorney General's office spent some time in this city investigating the charge that girls under 16 years of age are employed in some of the stores. It is said that a considerable mass of evidence of this having been violated was secured and that offenders will be prosecuted.

The Republic Iron & Steel Co. is credited with having decided to spend two million dollars in improving its plants in this city.

Local physicians fear an epidemic of meningitis. Quite a number of children have died of the disease during the past few weeks.

The fall of rain last Sunday night was the heaviest in a long time and considerable damage was done, especially in streets torn up to pave.

Sewers were clogged by refuse and kind and another and the water got into cellars, in some instances doing hundreds of dollars worth of damage.

Ed. Turner, Jr., went to Pittsburgh Saturday in the hope of recovering his stolen automobile, but before he arrived at the garage where it had been housed the parties called for it and disappeared.

One hundred jurors appeared at the court house Monday morning for service, but not half that number was needed as a jury for Karamides murder trial was secured without difficulty.

The county commissioners are ranging to have all the big bridges in the city painted.

Hiram McMahon, aged 61, who was long an Erie yard conductor, was throwing a switch Monday and as he stepped to one side was struck by a fast passenger train on another track and instantly killed.

As H. W. Davis was driving his automobile through Central square Sunday afternoon a tailor of the name of Friedman failed to hear his horn and as the machine skidded when the emergency brake was applied the man was hit. He was taken to the hospital.

John Flannigan, known as the "village pest," cut up capers in the city the other day, a trick he has turned many times before, and he was locked up. Just what to do with the fellow the authorities did not know.

It was finally decided to have him adjudged insane. It is by no means certain that an insane asylum is the place for him, but it is certain that he should be under restraint somewhere.

Judge Barnum has not yet given a decision in the injunction case of D. B. Wonseller against the city in which it is hoped to prevent the annexation of the entire township to the city.

The county budget commission is busy at work making appropriations for the several funds of the county for the coming year.

A great crowd will witness the automobile races at Southern Park next Sunday afternoon.

There is war in the camp of the Steelmen, the claim being set up by the ball players that they are not being fairly treated by the magnates in the way of salary and hotel accommodations while on trips.

The county committee of the Ohio Woman's Suffrage Association has opened headquarters in the old Commercial bank building and all who can make it convenient to call will be made welcome.
